

MATTIAS FOOTPRINT ASSIGNMENT

QUESTION 2

I am not surprised on what I found, because I only have a video of me playing hockey on my dad's friends YouTube channel when I was young, it doesn't have my first name in it only my last. The reason why I can't find anything is because I usually don't post anything on YouTube, Facebook, or Twitter, and I have an Instagram account that is private, so only my friends can see what I post, I also don't follow people I don't know, and trust because someone can impersonate me, and post some inappropriate stuff that can make me get embarrassed, or lose some friends, and I don't post anything that is inappropriate, so that would be a part of control of identity. For cautious of sharing information I don't tell anyone my passcodes to anything, I usually don't tell anyone where I live except for friends that want to come over, and I know that I trust them really well because of past experiences.

QUESTION 3

Q3- The video of me playing hockey when I was younger can encourage other people because they could post something of themselves playing sports and posting them on a social media for a kid that loves to play sports, and this would be apart of contributes to the online community because my friends dad posted a short video of me playing sports online, so other people can see, and get encouraged.

FUTURE EDUCATION

If you post something inappropriate online ,and you are trying to get a job, or go to a school they will probably look up your name, and see all the stuff you did, and if you post something inappropriate they will most likely not hire you, or let you go to that school, and tell you to go some where else because of that, or might not even get a job, or get into a school

FAMILY AND FRIENDS

if you post something inappropriate online, and one of your family members sees it then you would be in a lot of trouble, and other people can make fun of you. If one of your friends saw it, and he, or she tried to help, but you were disappointed, and maybe had depression, and your friend kept trying, and trying to help you, but you still were depressed, then your friend would probably just give up, and won't be friends with you anymore.

QUESTION 4A

1. You can make all your social media accounts private, and only follow people you know, and trust.
2. You should always double check to make sure what ever picture you are going to post is appropriate, so it doesn't harm you in the future, and doesn't reveal anything about your social life.
3. you should always enter your name in a search engines about every 2-3 weeks, or something like that, so you know nothing is inappropriate about you online, or any information about your self is leaked.

QUESTION 4B

Something I learned from this is, you should always make sure you don't post anything negative, or inappropriate online, and if you want to post something then you should double check if that post is appropriate then you can post it, and make sure you follow people you know, and trust before you post it too because there are a lot of scammers, and child predators that can impersonate you.
