

American revolution

Sara Nuhanovic

Colonists arrive in Roanoke, Virginia -1587

Colonists has arrived in Virginia in 1587 but till this day it is a unsolved mystery . 115 people had arrived but only one had survived. The governor, John White had needed to sail back to England to get supplies. When he had arrived a war had began. Due to this war the queen had ordered that all the ships in the kingdom must sail out which meant he could have not returned. 3 years later after the war in 1590 John white had sailed back to Virginia. When he arrived no one was left, only a single word “Croatian” which was a native word carved into a wooden post . People believe that the colonists were abducted or killed by a native tribe but no one knows.

Quebec act passed-1774

When the Quebec act had passed it had given Canada a permanent government. It had given people in Quebec freedom. It had also given them their land.

King George III of England begins his reign- 1760

On October 25th, 1760 King George III has become king of England due to his grandfather King George II passing. King George had the intentions to be a sincere and honest king which he had achieved, but those are only some of his many achievements. He had partaken in ending the seven year war. Soon after he had 3 cases of aggressive insanity. In 1820 he had taken being deaf, blind, and insane to his death bed.

End of seven year war; royal proclamation passed- 1763

The seven year war had lasted from 1756-1763. The royal proclamation was a king's law that gave people in Quebec rights as in keeping their land, language, and people. It also had kept Americans out

Stamp act passed-1765

When the stamp act passed in 1765 this enraged the American colonies. Without the tax the American colonies were not protected by the British.

Boston massacre- 1770

The Boston massacre was a big riot that struck out in 1770 due to British soldiers coming into America colonies and attempting to in force new taxes and laws. The Americans were not happy not to happy and began a protest. It had got so bad the local workers and British soldiers had began to fight . It was only the beginning, a mass riot had broke out and more blood was shed.

Boston tea party- 1773

The Boston tea party was a massive political protest during 1773. Americans were very upset because Britain were placing taxes on them so they took something important from them and destroyed it. Which was tea, the Americans had taken over 300 chests of tea and dumped it into the harbour. This had encouraged the 13 Colonies to fight back.

The battle of Lexington- 1775

The battle of Lexington was on April 19, 1775 and due to this battle it had started if the American revolution war.

Declaration of Independence- 1776

The declaration of independence was a treaty signed after the American revolution which was in 1783. It had been acted on by the 13 American colonies to be freed by British ruling.

French allies with America- 1778

When French allies with America they had signed the treaty of amity and commerce. The treaty represents American independence and agrees on France and America to have trade with one another.

Surrender of general Cornwallis at York town-1781

Cornwallis and his troops had settled in York town and Washington had ordered his troops that are made up of American and French soldiers which was larger than Cornwallis troops to block their escape. Long story short Cornwallis surrendered which had led the revolution to an end.

Treaty of Paris ends the American revolution- 1783

The treaty of Paris was a peace treaty made by Benjamin Franklin, John Jay, and John Adams which had stated America's independence and giving up territory near the Mississippi River to the United States. This had officially ended the American revolution.

First continental Congress- 1774

In 1774 America had a government which was a continental Congress which was made up of 13 American colonies. They had all met in 1774 for the first time and the second time they took action when Britain declared taxes. It had governed till 1789

Constitutional act of 1791

What had happened in the constitutional act is Britain had created upper and lower Canada.

When Washington escapes the British army- 1776

Washington had been hoping to settle in New York but little did he know that the British soldiers were there already. Luckily Washington was packed with french and American soldiers so they were prepared. The British soldiers and their commander had surrendered, doing so this had ended the war .

Battle of bunker hill- 1775

This was just a normal war it the American revolution but it was a confidence booster for the British because of their win.

Loyalists settle in Canada-1783

Thousands of loyalist moved from Britain to all over Canada during and after the civil war